Enniskillen Conservation Area

Enniskillen Conservation Area was created to help protect a naturally occurring wet cedar forest along the Bowmanville Creek. Although cedar is the dominant species of the area, many other types of vegetation are scattered throughout the forest, with various species of birds and wildlife making their home within the diverse cover. A variety of activities await the casual recreationist: walking, birdwatching, fishing, and picnicking are very popular. Large picnic sites are available for family event and corporate picnic rentals.
